Dedicated and consistent – comprehensive expertise

IMUSYM combines conventional medical knowledge with complementary healing methods. This opens up a new, optimized range of therapies for our patients!

This interplay of these two worlds also inspired us in designing the IMUSYM logo: Colors and shapes flow into one another, creating one harmonious whole.

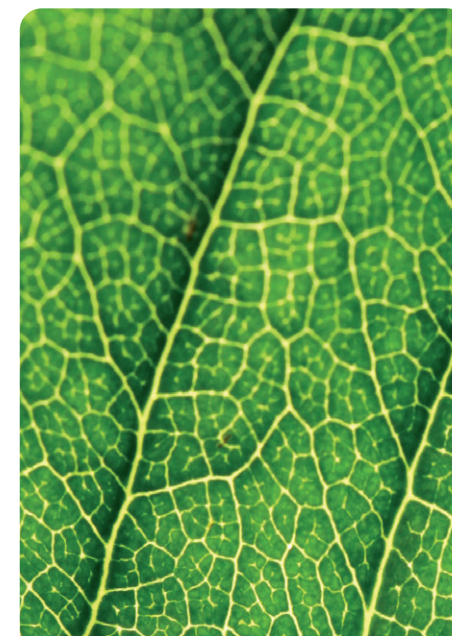

A wide variety of symptoms – unique therapeutic concepts

Experience holistic allergy therapy and immunotherapy with effective complementary modalities – in downtown Stuttgart. Our center is located at the corner of Esslinger Strasse and Rosenstrasse. The subway station Charlottenplatz and several parking garages are close by.

You and your health condition are at the heart of IMUSYM

Allergic conditions and immune issues have increased significantly in recent decades. About one-third of the German population suffers from them, and the trend continues to rise!

Anyone plagued by allergies or intolerances knows how much this can affect everyday life. To improve your well-being, IMUSYM unites a wide variety of complementary modalities under one roof. Expertise is pooled, and natural synergies arise to support your health.

Our patients are the focus of all we do. Each individual is diagnosed and treated holistically.

At our center, you'll receive personalized treatment tailored to your needs, drawing from the broad spectrum of modern complementary medicine.

What we offer – at a glance

- Bioresonance
- Homeopathy
- Psychosomatic medicine
- Nutritional counseling
- Intestinal detoxification and regulation
- Testing for a wide variety of allergens, including dental materials, building materials, varnishes, and paints
- Other effective treatment methods

Personable and insightful – we're here for you

Dr. Bettina Lang has been in private practice since 2001. In 2015, she founded the IMUSYM Center for Complementary Medicine. As someone with allergies herself, she spent decades searching for suitable, effective therapies. She now draws on her experience to offer you the best possible treatment.

The IMUSYM team looks forward to welcoming you!
